

KALTERAM

REFRACTORY RAMMING MIXES

High alumina stamping and slinging substances based on ceramic binding and delivered in the form of a crushing material. They are processed through machine or manual stamping of delivered soggy substance into steel master forms. They are used mainly in the stove industry and in heating units requiring increased chemical resistance of the lining.

Applications:

They are used in the stove industry and in heating units requiring increased chemical resistance of the lining.